There is an empty chair, but no one's sitting there.
There's a feeling in the air, but nothing in the empty chair.

In the shteibl is an empty chair, Reb Nachman used to sit right there.
When you see it you'll become aware and feel the spirit of an empty chair.

אֵלֵינוּ הַנְּבִי - we will wait for you - אֵלֵינוּ

Eliyahu we sing this song to you - Eliyahu HaNavi

At the Seder is an empty cup, we take our wine and fill it up.
Then the children open up the door and welcome who we've been waiting for.

Shabbat is over and we call YOUR name with wine and spices and a twisted flame.
Eliyahu may there come a day when no longer will we have to say

Eliyahu —

Did you ever take an empty space and turn it into a sacred place?
You can make it happen anywhere —that's the meaning of an empty chair.
